

Paolo Maffeis

Paolo Maffeis is one of the executives in PRISMA European Capacity Platform GmbH, one of the most important platform operators for online gas transmission capacity trading in Europe. In his role he is responsible of regulatory, financial and relations with stakeholders and shareholders. He has been working in the energy industry for more than 20 years; during his working experience he has been responsible of regulatory and business development departments in Italian and international companies.

He is Italian and has a degree in Economical and Financial Engineer.