

Dr. Michael Thomadakis is Member of the Board of RAE - Greece's Regulatory Authority for Energy. He is also Elected Chairman of the Gas Working Group of the Energy Community Regulatory Board and the Chairman of the Investment Group of the Energy Charter Conference. He has extensive experience in international affairs, regulation of gas and electricity markets, long-term energy planning and management. Before joining RAE, Dr Thomadakis was responsible for the administration of DEPA's (Public Gas Corporation of Greece) gas supply contracts, development and administration of timecharter agreements for LNG transportation. He also participated in gas price negotiations and in the development of gas pricing policies. He has a Mechanical Engineering degree from National Technical University of Athens (1986) and a PhD from the same University (1992) and has worked as senior research engineer in the Mechanical Engineering Department of University of Manchester Institute of Science and Technology from 1993 to 1995. He has published more than 25 papers in scientific journals and scientific conferences.