

Elizabeth Oger-Gross is a partner of White & Case's International Arbitration Group and is based in the Paris office. She advises clients in complex commercial disputes, with a focus on the energy and construction industries. She also has significant experience in investment disputes for and against States. Elizabeth is both common-law and civil-law qualified and acts in both English and French-language arbitrations. She has been involved in arbitrations conducted under the rules of the ICC, AAA/ICDR, UNCITRAL, and the Swiss Chamber of Commerce. She also has substantial experience in cross-border litigation, particularly involving the US, France and Africa. Elizabeth is a member of the Paris and New York State bars, as well as the US District Courts for the Southern and Eastern Districts of New York. She holds a JD from New York University School of Law, a Masters in International Affairs from Institut d'Études Politiques de Paris, and a BS from Georgetown University. She also teaches international arbitration at Université Paris Est Créteil Val-de-Marne, Paris 2 (Panthéon-Assas), Sciences Po Paris, and the Lagos Court of Arbitration.