
Dr Christoph Riechmann

Director

+49 221 337 13 104
christoph.riechmann@frontier-economics.com

Christoph Riechmann is a Director in the Frontier Energy Practice and also heads the Cologne and Berlin offices of Frontier.

Christoph provides market design, regulation, competition, valuation, strategy and dispute support advice to clients in Europe. Christoph has some 25 years of consulting experience in the energy sector where he has advised the European Commission, national authorities and regulators, energy companies, investment funds and industry associations.

This has recently included work on regulatory and market design for a decarbonised power and gas sector for the European Commission, the review of long term gas supply, storage and transport contracts, efficiency analysis and stranded cost recovery in the gas sector for various commercial players in the market.

Before joining Frontier in 1999, Christoph Riechmann worked at the Institute of Energy Economics (EWI) in Cologne where he was involved in consultancy and research on reform and restructuring in network industries.

Christoph has numerous publications on regulatory and market design in the energy sector. He holds a PhD in Economics from Cologne University.