

David Tonge is Director of IBS Research and Consultancy, which he founded in 1985 and has over 30 years' consulting experience for leading companies in Turkey and Central Asia, in particular in the energy sector. IBS has carried out over 250 projects in power and gas, acting for international and local companies and financial institutions, both for business development and dispute resolution.

His knowledge of Turkey, its leading companies, its practices and its institutions is complemented by experience in the Caucasus and Central Asia. He is author of a wide range of publications on Turkey. He has a BA in natural sciences and economics from Cambridge, England.