

Dr. Milan Sedláček is Head of EU Affairs and Strategy at Eustream, a.s. , the gas transmission system operator of Slovakia – which operates one of the largest gas import corridors for the EU. Milan has nearly 30 years of experience in gas transmission.

In his career in gas transmission he has held various managerial positions oriented on business, regulation and strategy. He managed transmission capacity sales, business development and strategy, always with a strong focus on regulatory affairs.

During his career he was responsible for/cooperating on number of projects, namely related to introduction of third party access to transmission network, transparency, unbundling, network codes implementation and EU affairs.

Furthermore, the integral part of his activities are the EU gas associations. He is currently the president of Gas Transmission Europe (GTE) and vice-president of the association Gas Infrastructure Europe (GIE).