

Natasha Fielding, Editor, European Natural Gas, Argus

Natasha Fielding is editorial manager for European gas, global LNG and biomass at Argus Media. Natasha has extensive oversight of these commodities teams at Argus, including product development, price methodology and the overall editorial direction. Argus is the leading independent provider of market intelligence to the global energy and commodity markets.

Natasha was the editor of Argus' daily European gas report for over four years. The report provides news and analysis of the markets and includes price assessments that are widely used by a broad spectrum of market participants. In Natasha's over eight years of experience in European gas, she has reported on the Dutch TTF, Germany and the UK NBP markets as well as central and eastern Europe and the Mediterranean.

Natasha holds MA and MPhil degrees from the University of Cambridge, where she studied German and French.